NLRB OFFICIALLY POSTPONES ITS NOTICE POSTING RULE

Just hours after the Federal Appeals Court for the District of Columbia issued its emergency injunction preventing the enforcement of the NLRB's Employee Rights Notice Posting Rule, the NLRB issued this statement:

"In view of the DC Circuit's order, and in light of the strong interest in the uniform implementation and administration of agency rules, regional offices will not implement the rule pending the resolution of the issues before the court."

Now private employers can feel confident that they face no legal jeopardy by not posting the NLRB's poster – at least until the court battles are over. And that could be many months if not years in the future.

The NLRB's full statement can be found here.
